

2321

Handwritten graffiti on the white door, possibly reading "Noel".

Black shutter on the window to the right of the door.

The structure is a single-story house with a gabled roof. The exterior walls are made of light-colored vertical siding, which is heavily weathered and peeling. The roof is made of dark, weathered wooden planks, with several missing or broken sections, particularly along the ridge and eaves. On the left side, there is a window with a white frame and a dark shutter. Next to it is a doorway with a concrete step leading up to it. To the right of the doorway is a large, irregular opening in the wall, revealing the interior. The interior is cluttered with various items, including what appears to be a mattress, boxes, and other debris. The house is situated on a grassy area, and there are trees and bushes in the background.

A large, green, palm-like plant with long, narrow leaves and a fan-like shape. It is positioned on the right side of the house, partially obscuring the view of the building. The plant appears to be a type of palm, possibly a fan palm or a similar species. It is growing in a grassy area, and its leaves are spread out in all directions, creating a dense canopy.

The ground in the foreground is covered with tall, green grass. The grass is uneven in height and density, with some areas being more overgrown than others. There is also some scattered debris on the ground, including pieces of wood, plastic, and other trash. The overall appearance is that of a neglected and overgrown area.